Scanned signed attestations concerning P-21

All organizations, people, agreements, events, and rules in this source are synthetic.

Purchasing officer Mara Voss signed an attestation on June 28 at 14:00 UTC. The signed statement reads: "For P-21, the director granted the written order approval at 10:00 UTC on June 27, before the 10:30 commitment. I examined the signed approval at the purchasing desk." The attestation identifies the order, date, person, and approval event unambiguously. It does not merely say that approval was requested or that Mara expected approval. This statement is positive testimony about the event. The scan records the statement and its signature; it does not provide the allegedly examined approval document itself.

Records officer Tomas Reed signed a second attestation on June 28 at 14:30 UTC. It reads: "The director granted no approval for P-21 at or before 11:00 UTC on June 27. In particular, the reported 10:00 approval did not occur." This is an explicit denial of the same pre-commitment approval event asserted by Mara, not an observation that Tomas failed to locate one attachment. Tomas says he was the approval-session recorder but supplies no complete session transcript. The statement does not deny that the order was committed at 10:30, which both witnesses accept. It also does not suggest that a different person had delegated authority to approve P-21.

The authenticity of both signatures is stipulated for this synthetic dossier. Neither witness has retracted the signed statement. No priority rule, adjudication, amended register, or original approval instrument resolving the disagreement is supplied. P-21 is deliberately outside the complete transaction coverage of L01. Both statements concern the same order and same June 27 morning, so they cannot be reconciled by moving one to a different order, date, or timezone. Their contradiction concerns approval occurrence. An audit should not transform both attributed statements into unconditional world facts from which arbitrary conclusions could be derived; nor does signature authenticity make one statement automatically authoritative over the other.

P-21 has normalized value EUR 8,000.00 and does not aggregate with another requirement. Its commitment record states 2029-06-27 10:30 UTC and identifies the supplier. Competition is therefore not the disputed issue. The provided attestation packet contains no invoice-payment entry, bank statement, or payment authorization. Even if a reviewer resolved the approval disagreement later, that resolution would not establish payment. The scans are faithful document reproductions prepared for this synthetic fixture. Their visual signatures are textual signature labels, not copied real signatures, and their evidentiary content is limited to the attributed assertions printed above.
